(12) Insanity is not a cause for exclusion from inheritance under the Mahomedan law. (Mahar Ali v Amani 2 Beng LR (Ac) 306). The insane son is therefore entitled to inherit along with others. From the records it is clear that the pensioner Bhabi had at her death the following heirs: husband, son and daughter. Though the daughter Hafeza Khatun is now dead, the share she would have received when at the time of her mother's death, and can pass only to her heirs. The amount of pension which Bhabi was enjoying has to be distributed in the following proportion according to the Mahomedan law:-

(i.e. if the parties are Sunnis)

Husband - 1/4;

Son — 1/2

Daughter - 1/4.

(13) As the daughter's heirs are not yet ascertained clearly, and as Nurun is insane and has not claimed anything, the husband of the deceased Bhabi can be given only 1/4 of 15 as or 3 annas 12 pie.
